Battle Dying Down In Bizerte Streets

Local NG Unit May Be Called

Six Divisions Named In List Of Possibles

NEW YORK (AP) — President Kennedy was reported today to ask Congress to freeze six National Guard divisions on active duty indefinitely because of the Berlin crisis.

Warren Rogers Jr., in a Washington dispatch to the New York Herald Tribune, also wrote that the President is prepared to ask Congress to increase the Army's manpower limit to 975,000, from the present 875,000.

The six National Guard divisions now on their annual two week's training are:

26th Infantry (Massachusetts), training at Camp Drum, N.Y., July 22-Aug. 5.

28th Infantry (Pennsylvania): Camp A. P. Hill, Bowling Green, Va., July 15-29.

30th Armored (Tennessee): Ft. Stewart, Ga., July 16-30.

35th Infantry (Texas): Fort Hood, Tex., July 16-29.

35th Infantry (Kansas-Missouri): Camp Ripley, Minn., July 23-Aug. 6.

38th Infantry (Indiana): Camp Grayling, Mich., July 23-Aug. 6.

Guard divisions may be frozen if the President or Congress declares a national emergency or if Congress passes a joint resolution extending indefinitely all officer appointments and enlistment terms.

Maj. Gen. Charles Browne, commanding general of the 35th was not available for comment.

At his home in Horton, Kan., it was reported he had left for Camp Ripley, Minn. by plane.

The division, composed of about 8,000 men from Missouri and Kansas, left today for the two weeks of summer field training. Missouri units make up about two-thirds of the division.

Rain Halts Dedication Ceremony

A brief downpour of rain halted dedication ceremonies Friday morning at American Engineering Company, but the firm's officials moved inside and formally opened the company's doors to business in Sedalia.

On hand was Sam Boyle, president and manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who spoke briefly and welcomed approximately 25 company officials present for the ceremonies and a three-day sales meeting held in conjunction with the opening. Representatives of American from 20 states are attending the sales meeting which opened Thursday at the plant.

Also introduced was Leon Hall, of the local Division of Employment Security office, who assisted the firm in securing a labor force.

The newly opened plant has been in production for several months, but according to R. W. Patterson, plant manager, Friday marked the completion date of the project's first phase.

"Additional buildings are already under construction, which

100 Repatriates Bound for Florida

HAVANA (AP)—A new group of more than 100 American repatriates will be flown to Miami today, the Swiss Embassy reported. The flight, the eighth arranged by the embassy, would leave more than 500 American residents of Cuba still awaiting repatriation.

Tunisian President Asks For Foreign Volunteers

TUNIS (AP) — Fighting died down in the streets of Bizerte today after a new French drive pushed Tunisian forces back from the naval base, but President Habib Bourguiba called for foreign volunteers to step up his undeclared war against France and ordered seizure of a French oil pipeline in southern Tunisia.

Scores more casualties were reported in the French paratroop and tank thrust to enlarge the perimeter around the Bizerte base and keep Tunisian troops and civilian militia at distance from the French installations they have been besieging for three days.

In an emotional radio speech, Bourguiba called on his people to mobilize for war and told his troops "fight to the death." He ordered his Neo-Destour Party network to organize strong points for guerrilla tactics, if that should become necessary.

With the war mushrooming beyond a limited objective of forcing the French from Bizerte, the seaport city was reported quiet at midday. The center of town was held by the Tunisians, and travelers from Bizerte reported there was sporadic rifle and machine-gun fire just before noon but it died down quickly.

The Tunisian radio still spoke of "street fighting" and a "raging battle" at Bizerte. But all travelers returning from the city agreed fighting had ebbed after the French thrust.

Bourguiba said he had ordered his troops to seize the pipeline at Skhira, in southern Tunisia.

Hunt For Victims Of Flood

Hope People, Said Missing, Have Escaped

CHARLESTON, W. V. (AP)—A weary band of mud-caked men began anew today a search they prayed would be fruitless.

A flash flood here already had taken 17 lives. They hoped a half-dozen people still listed as missing had escaped.

"It's our worst disaster," the Charleston Mayor, John Shanklin, said sadly. "We won't know for a long time just how bad it is."

One state official estimated property damage alone in West Virginia's capital city would amount to $5 million.

Dazed survivors started returning to the ravines where their homes once stood.

They looked. They saw what had happened when a torrent of water, led by nearly six inches of rainfall, had swept through the valleys late Wednesday night.

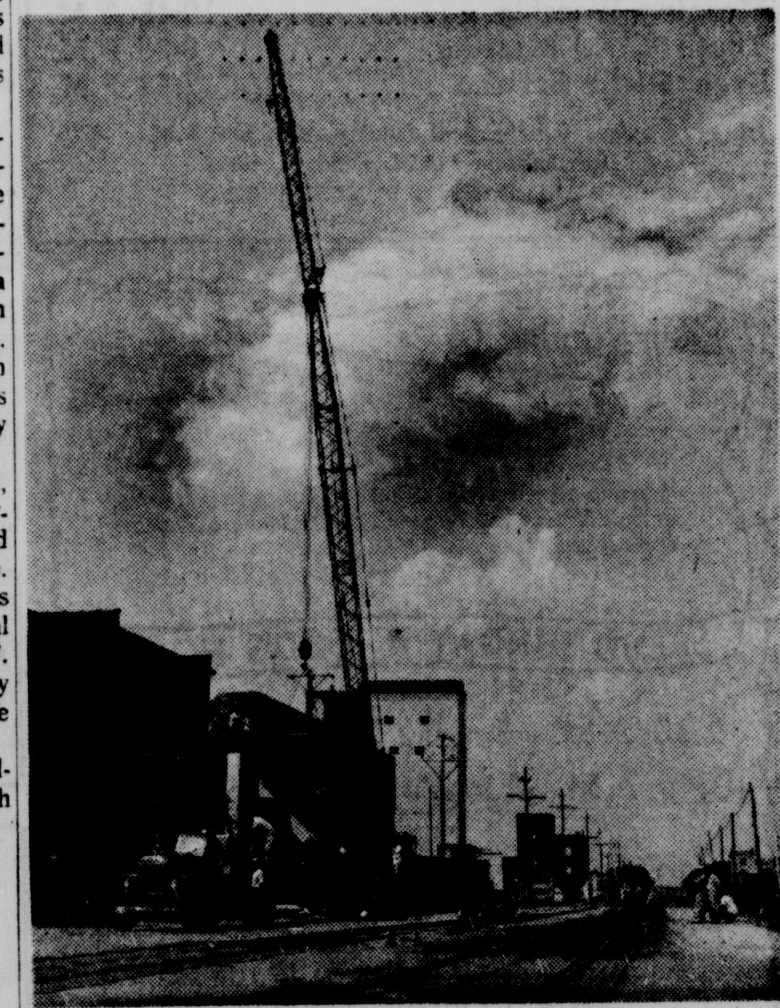

They wandered up and down the hill-imprisoned streets. They poked about the debris, afraid they would find relatives last seen before the deluge.

About 50 houses were splintered by the flood. Countless cars were battered beyond salvage. The waters chased an estimated 500 families from their homes.

Gov. W. W. Barron asked President Kennedy to declare Charleston and surrounding sections a

A TOWERING CRANE has become a familiar fixture in back of the Sedalia Ice and Cold Storage Co. at 320 West Main. Jack Cunningham reports that a new 90x70 foot pre-cast roof is being built on the plant in order to make it completely fireproof. Workmen have replaced the wood with a new lightweight concrete. When the roof is completed the crane will have hoisted 16 large beams weighing five tons apiece and 17 double T-beams measuring 32x4 feet. Work should be finished sometime next week.

NEWS BRIEFS

AKITA, Japan (AP) — Japanese scientists fired a 1.2-ton rocket to an altitude of 96 miles today to collect data on electron temperatures and ion density in the ionosphere. It was Japan's seventh firing of that type rocket.

LINZ, Austria (AP) — Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba has canceled a treatment date at the Austrian health resort of Bad Ischl, apparently because of the Bizerte crisis.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) — A 21-month-old boy was killed today when he was thrown from a car that skidded on wet pavement.

He was Stephen Russell Hightower, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hightower, Excelsior Springs. The car was being driven by his mother when it skidded into an embankment on M10, about 8 miles east of here.

WILLOW SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) — A Ft. Leonard Wood soldier was killed Thursday night in a car which overturned at a curve near Ellis Prairie. The highway patrol identified him as Richard M. Pierce, 25.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only a few hours after this country sent its second man into space, President Kennedy today signed a bill authorizing vastly expanded space projects, including a start toward sending a man to the moon.

SEATTLE (AP) — An Alaska Airlines plane carrying military cargo crashed and burned today on Shemya Island in the Aleutians, killing all six crew members.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — A heavy wind did widespread minor damage in Columbia shortly before noon today.

A trailer in one trailer court was blown over, some automobiles were scattered about a filling station and several barns were damaged at the Boone County Fair Grounds.

Bigger Draft Call

States Building Up Their Draftee Pool

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although several states reported they were increasing their pools of available draftees, the Army said today it has made no new request for drafting additional men.

Selective Service officials in Washington said the increases in pools of available draft men were tied to the already announced 8,000-man August call, 2,000 more than called for July.

Indications in the capital were that the administration planned to rely primarily on trained National Guardsmen and reservists in any defense manpower buildup. Larger draft quotas would be used only as a possible long-range support measure.

Some state Selective Service directors said they were acting on orders from Washington in building up the available supply of men eligible for induction into the armed forces.

A Selective Service official here pointed out that some increases had been expected—there were no draft calls for May and June with 14,000 men to be drafted in July and August.

"I think perhaps some state directors may have sent out calls for more men in anticipation of further increases," he said. "But there have been no increases since the call of 8,000 was announced for August."

Selective Service officials said the state calls had no connection with the Berlin crisis.

Among the states reporting increases in their "ready pool" were Massachusetts, Indiana,

Missing Plane Reported Safe Early Friday

A light plane and its pilot missing Thursday night on a flight between Springfield, Mo., and Tulsa, Okla., were reported safe in Coffeyville, Kan., early Friday morning.

The aircraft, a 172 Cessna, piloted by Claude Perry, Tulsa, Okla., took off Thursday from Mt. Vernon, Ill., on a flight plan for Tulsa. Perry landed the craft at Springfield late Thursday afternoon, refueled and took off at 5 p.m. carrying fuel for approximately four hours of flying.

When the plane was reported overdue at Brown Airport in Tulsa, its destination, Civil Air Patrol authorities were alerted and search efforts were initiated. The Sedalia squadron of the CAP was notified and asked to fly to Joplin, headquarters of the CAP operation, to take part in the search.

Local air patrol officers reported Friday morning that the search was called off when the pilot notified the CAP that he was in Coffeyville, Kan. The air patrol said the pilot landed the plane at Coffeyville after encountering a severe thunderstorm. Perry reportedly spent the night at Coffeyville and took off for Tulsa Friday morning.

Capsule Lost After Flight

Spaceman In Dramatic Exit From Space Capsule

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Astronaut Virgil I. Gus Grissom survived a 5,280-mile-an-hour journey in space today, then made a dramatic swim for his life as his capsule plummeted to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean.

Loss of the $2-million space craft and its equipment will not delay the Project Mercury program, which is aimed at placing a man in orbit a few months from now and on the moon later, an official said.

Aid Bill Signing Delayed

Meets Most Of Kennedy's Specifications

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today put over until Monday a final vote on a $4,326,500,000 foreign aid bill tailored to fit most of President Kennedy's specifications. A vote in the Senate itself was scheduled a week from today.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said the bill is practically ready for the expected approving vote in his committee Monday.

The bill includes the full authority Kennedy asked for a 5-year, $8.8 billion, treasury-financed economic development loan program.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he hoped to schedule the measure for debate in the Senate late next week. There it is expected to encounter rough opposition, particularly from those who argue its method of financing means backdoor spending with insufficient congressional control.

Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., conceded Kennedy's battle for the long-term development loan authority, which bypasses congressional appropriations committees, is far from won.

He said he would "guess the Senate would accept the borrowing authority, but it might make changes in details and amounts."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader, said: "There may be some cuts offered on the floor, but I'd say we'll come out of the Senate with a good, strong bill that will please the President and fulfill the aims of the administration."

Fire Prevention Week Opens Oct. 8

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has proclaimed the week beginning Oct. 8 as Fire Prevention Week.

Whiteman Gets $834,000 Under Appropriation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Missouri projects totaling almost $11 million were included in an appropriation bill for military construction approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

They included:

Missouri

Ft. Leonard Wood, $10,080,000.

Whiteman Air Force Base, Knob Noster, $834,000.

Kansas

Ft. Leavenworth, $396,000.

Ft. Riley, $1,431,000.

Schilling Air Force Base, Salina, $454,000.

McConnell Air Force Base, Wichita, $134,000.

The committee rejected a request for $771,000 for a new commissary at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and funds for corrosion control at Schilling Air Force Base in Kansas. The amount sought for Schilling was not given.

Turnpike Accident Injuries Are Fatal

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Paul E. O'Malley, 47, Kansas City, died Thursday of injuries from an accident on the Kansas Turnpike.

His sister, Mrs. Alice K. Arnold, 53, Junction City, Kan., was killed outright when their car hit a bridge Tuesday.

Grissom Arrives For Rest

Party Planned To Celebrate His Success

GRAND BAHAMA ISLAND (AP)—Smiling and seemingly relaxed, astronaut Virgil I. Gus Grissom arrived on this island today for 48 hours of rest after his space flight.

He stepped down from an orange and silver plane to be greeted by James E. Webb, administrator of the national space agency.

"Congratulations on a wonderful job," Webb said.

Grissom thanked him and shook hands with fellow astronauts Walter Schirra and John H. Glenn Jr.

"You're looking good," Schirra told him.

Noting that Grissom rode in the co-pilot's seat of the plane that brought him from the aircraft carrier Randolph, Webb remarked:

"I see you are not tired of flying."

"Not a bit," Grissom replied.

It was the first time Webb had ever seen a rocket launched. He said today's feat was "splendid."

Grissom, wearing an orange flying suit and silver boots, rode to the aluminum hospital about a mile away with Capt. Hugh May, Air Force commander of this missile tracking station.

There he was to take medical examinations and start giving his full report on the flight.

A party was planned tonight.

Department Store Sales Show Increase

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Department store sales in the Tenth Federal Reserve District last week were 2 per cent higher than in the corresponding week a year ago.

The national gain was 3 per cent.

Omaha gained 20 per cent, Joplin 13, Denver 10, and Lincoln 8. Wichita was unchanged.

Showing losses were Oklahoma City 13 per cent, Topeka 9, greater Kansas City 5, Downtown Kansas City 3 and St. Joseph 2.

Power Station

A NEW SUBSTATION is presently under construction by the Missouri Public Service and is designed to provide more electric power to this area. It is arranged to have four 161 KV Circuits terminate in it. The structure is located about one mile west of Sedalia on 16th Street. One of the 161 KV Circuits to Sedalia is almost complete. Another Circuit will be constructed from Sedalia to the generating plant at Sibley on the Missouri River. Two additional Circuits will be built later to provide a strong tie with neighboring companies.

Each of these circuits will be brought in through an automatic oil circuit breaker. These will automatically disconnect the line if trouble develops without interrupting the rest of the station. This breaker weighs 51,500 pounds, and is valued at $50,000. All of the equipment is on concrete foundations from 6-10 feet deep. The station will be enclosed with a heavy cyclone fence, and the ground will be covered with crushed rock. Total cost of construction will be approximately $1,400,000.

Bible Roses Not Always Real Roses

By JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I am Rose of Sharon, and the lily of the valleys," says the Song of Solomon. Sounds plain enough.

Would anyone suspect the Biblical passage actually means "I am the tulip and the hyacinth"?

The scriptures abound with references to flowers, but the Bible authors described many of them in such vague terms translators and botanists don't always agree on the identity.

John Asch, New York author, horticulturist and Bible scholar, has settled at least some of the controversies after extensive study and plant exploration for the Hebrew University in Jerusalem. His findings, plus those of other modern researchers, appear in the current issue of the journal of the American Museum of Natural History.

Asch found, for example, that the Hebrew word "shushan," once translated as lily, or lilies of the field, refers instead to the anemone or windflower.

Another Biblical "lily" often means the iris, or yellow flag; and the "rose" of the Bible refers to the marigold in some passages, the oleander in others.

The Rose of Sharon, as noted, refers to the tulip; and the lily of the valley, says Asch, is believed to be the hyacinth. Another flower mentioned in the Song of Solomon, Tirzah, Asch identifies as the crocus.

A great deal of controversy remains, however, over the hundreds of references in the Bible to trees.

The sycamore, mentioned several times, according to Asch's research is in reality the sycamore fig, a tall evergreen with aromatic leaves. Its fruit is small spotted, not particularly tasty, and not to be confused with the cherished common fig.

True identities of other evergreens remain in doubt.

Asch's research is valuable not only for its contribution to accuracy in translation, but also for the clues plants offer about the way the people of Bible lands lived.

We learn, for example, the ordinary diet was of vegetables—cucumbers, broad beans, leeks, onions, garlic; that the early Israelites baked bread daily, flavored it with olive oil; made wafers flavored with honey; carried raisins and parched grain with them into the fields or on their travels; and ate meat only rarely.

Water was scarce, but the vine wasn't, and wine was a common drink. So was goat's milk, which also provided butter and cheese.

Clothing fabric came from goat hair, course flax, hemp, papyrus and even almond stalks. Wool clothing was strictly for the wealthy, linen for royalty and priests.

The olive, of course, was the most important oil-yielding plant. In fact, Moses referred to the land of Canaan as a "land of olive oil."

Another oil-yielding plant was the gourd, mentioned in Jonah 4:6. What was it?

"The common castor oil plant," says researcher Asch.

Sunday Services At Our Savior

The Sunday Service of Our Savior Lutheran Church will be held Sunday with the pastor Rev. Roland K. Lemke, speaking on the subject: "The Communion of Saints." The Walther League meets Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Ralph Kreisel, 1408 South Carr.

The pastor's Religious Information Class for Adults meets Monday at 7:30 p.m. at 906 West Broadway. This will also be the place of meeting of the Fishermen's Club Tuesday at 6:30 p.m.

The Sunday School staff meets Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Ellis Moore home, 2229 First Street Terrace.

Special Music Is Planned By First Baptist

As special music at the morning worship service at the First Baptist Church, the choir will present, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God."

The Rev. John Moad, Kansas City, will give the message at both the morning and evening services, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. R. Wallace, who is on vacation.

The evening services will begin with the Training Union hour, followed by the worship service. An anthem, "The King's Business," will be presented by a men's chorus.

Throughout this week, Sunday School Leadership Week will be held at Windemere.

On Tuesday, the church will have a church-wide visitation program at 6:45 p.m.

The RA, GA and Sunbeam meetings will start family night services Wednesday evening at 6:45. The department Sunday School meetings will be held at 7, and the mid-week prayer service at 7:45.

Thursday evening the Adult Choir will rehearse at 7.

Guest for Broadway Presbyterian Church

The Rev. Frank W. Penick, Jefferson City, will be the guest speaker at the Broadway Presbyterian Church Sunday. He will talk on, "Building Another America."

Boy Scout Troop 65 will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The Christian education committee will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Thursday at 7:30 p.m., Dr. H. H. McKenzie, Missouri Valley College, will conduct the fourth in a series of Bible studies.

The annual Vacation Bible School will start July 31, with sessions from 9 to 11 a.m., and will run for two weeks.

Wesley Methodist Service for Sunday

Morning worship at the Wesley Methodist Church Sunday will have the pastor bringing the sermon, "Christ, Our Partner in Prayer." Miss Jill Ragland will sing a solo entitled, "Prayer," for the offertory. Church School will follow the worship service.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship groups will meet at 6:30 p.m.

view, Ala., came to work with Missouri Baptists in the early 1930's. He served as a member of the Missouri Baptist Convention for six years, was president of the Missouri Baptist Convention in 1947, and was pastor of the First Baptist Church at Cape Girardeau before going to the state office.

Sunday School will be followed by the worship hour with Dr. McGinty as the guest speaker. The boys quartet from the Broadway Mission will bring a special number for that hour. The Sunbeams will meet at 10:30. The Chapel Choir will meet for rehearsal at 5:30. The Youth Fellowship hour will be held at 9 p.m. The Intermediates will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Mornberg, 1405 East Ninth. The Young People's place of entertainment will be announced later.

July 24 through July 28 will be Sunday School leadership week at Windemere.

Tuesday members of the Sign Language Class will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. under the leadership of Rev. Roy Cissna.

Wednesday the Junior R. A. boys will meet at 6:30 p.m. Mid-week Prayer service will be at 7:30 with the Adult Choir rehearsing at 8:30 p.m.

Thursday, the Philathea Class will hold its regular monthly meeting at 11 with a covered dish luncheon at the noon hour. All class members are encouraged to attend.

Fall, Winter Suit Styles Are Spirited

By LOUISE HICKMAN
Associated Press Fashion Writer

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — De Luca brightened the runway at the Pitti Palace Wednesday night with spirited, snappy suits for fall and winter, in lively colors, and brilliant, wide-brimmed hats that shaded the eye.

De Luca's suits had high-waisted, indented jackets that rested on the hip and were slightly longer and curved in back. Swing skirts had front fullness via flat pleat-panels.

Sleeves were gentle. Collars were soft looping scarves or flat revers filled in with colored crystal-bead scarves.

Favorite colors were clear red, strawberry, turquoise, blue-violet and teal. The hats most often matched the suits but there were some pairings—olive with russet-gold, olive with yellow, purple with green.

Black was favored for evening.

The Mingoli-Gugenheim showing added another point of view to the total Italian fashion picture. Their day clothes were fitted Princess sheaths with the first straight skirts of the season.

These had set-in sleeves, often short. Coats were soft and capey. Gray and black with flashes of purple and candy pink made up the color scheme.

Famed Inventor Leaves Small Bequest Behind

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Lee de Forest, whose invention of the three-element vacuum tube helped spawn the vast electronics industry, left only $1,250 in cash.

Dr. De Forest's will was filed for probate Wednesday by his fourth wife, former actress Marie Mosquini. The famed inventor died June 30 at 87.

Mrs. De Forest's attorney said her husband held patents which could yield further income, but they are not doing so now.

The will, signed in 1954, left all property to Mrs. De Forest except for bequests of $1 each to three daughters.

Garden Club Two Given a Breakfast

Members of Garden Club Two were entertained with a breakfast Friday morning, July 14, at the home of Mrs. H. A. Hite at Green Ridge. Co-hostesses were Mrs. C. E. Van Horn, Mrs. Fred Lange, Mrs. Forrest Drake and Mrs. E. M. Johnson. Eighteen members were served.

Mrs. Don Anderson, president, conducted a short business meeting after the breakfast. Plans for the Flower Exhibits at the State Fair were discussed. Mrs. Herbert Seifert told of the interesting refresher course she attended for two days at the University of Missouri. A social hour followed.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Phillip Pfeiffer in September.

Rev. Purviance Back In Christian Pulpit

Rev. Harry Purviance returns to the pulpit of First Christian Church Sunday after a month's absence. He will deliver the sermon at the morning service, entitled "Why the Church Died!" Special music for the service includes a vocal solo, "The Living God," sung by Mrs. W. L. Lewis.

A meeting of the colony plan committee will be held at 7:30 Monday evening.

Church, Sedalia, will be the guest speaker.

Dr. Hobbs will speak at 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 6, and each evening at 8 p.m. through the entire week. On Sunday, Aug. 13, he will speak at 11 a.m., 2:30 p.m. and 8 p.m. Song service, 7:30 p.m. Everyone is invited to these services.

Protecting First Family Task for Secret Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-five men around the President constantly turn their backs on him—and get away with it.

These aren't ordinary men. They watch the people who watch the President. Carefully picked, rigorously trained, they are Secret Service agents responsible for the life and safety of the chief executive and his family.

What is a typical agent like? What tempts him into a job that keeps him away from home a lot, costs him money out of his own pocket for expenses, and expects him to put his own life on the line, if need be, to protect the man in the White House?

U. E. Baughman, chief of the U. S. Secret Service, took a reporter in tow, looked around, spotted Charles Hall as a rather typical agent, and even started the interviewing himself. Since Baughman doesn't want names and pictures of his agents printed widely, the name is fiction but the initials are right.

Hall is a well-knit chap with close-cropped, curly brown hair. He carries 185 pounds on a 5-foot-11 frame—and a 38 revolver on his left hip. He looks as if he could have turned in a pretty fair performance as a halfback in college. But he was an end instead, at Concordia College in western Minnesota.

"How old are you?" the chief asked.

"Twenty-nine."

"Married?"

Yes, and he has a son 4½ and another baby due in October. He rents a semidetached house in the suburbs.

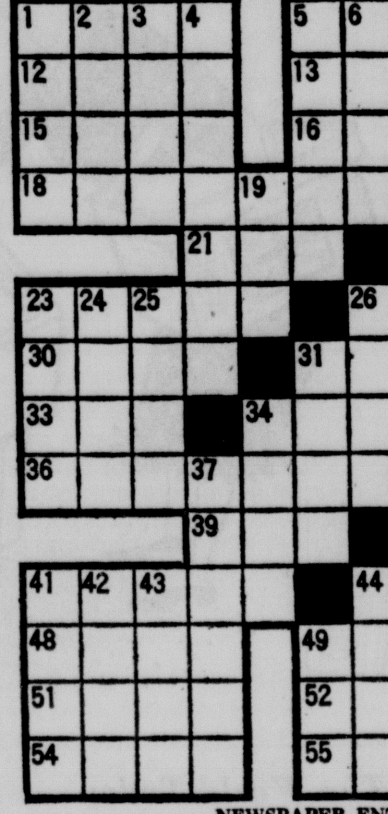

Never while he is on duty is Hall without that gun on his hip. The matter of evening clothes points up a problem. Since Secret Service agents accompany the President and Mrs. Kennedy everywhere they go in public, to all sorts of official and social functions, they need a varied wardrobe. It's a uniform in effect, but they get no clothing allowance.

Hall invested $85 in a tuxedo. When he has to turn out in white tie and tails, for state dinners or receptions, for example, he rents them for $12.50 an evening—$12.50 of his own money.

THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Fri., July 21, 1961 3

Marilyn Goldman Is Named to Honor Roll

Marilyn E. Goldman, 1111 State Fair Blvd., was named to the honor roll at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, during spring quarter, the university announced recently.

Undergraduate students who achieved high academic averages for the quarter were listed on the roll.

Sentence Two For Assault On a Youth

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Two American Nazi storm troopers have been sentenced to 12 months on the state road gang for assault on a 13-year-old Jewish boy.

The troopers are members of George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi party, which has its headquarters in this Washington suburb.

Conviction Thursday of Robert Garber, 31, and Richard Braun, 26, was based on testimony by the boy, Frederick (Ricky) Farber. He said that on July 8 he was chased by one of the Nazis carrying a lead pipe, threatened and forced into the headquarters, where he said he was handcuffed.

Judge Hugh C. Cregger Jr. imposed the maximum jail sentence for a misdemeanor. Cregger said the original charges of felonious assault had not been proved.

Braun and Garber said they would appeal in October.

In separate cases involving troopers, Anthony E. Wells, 23, was fined and sentenced to 60 days in jail for assaulting a 16-year-old boy whom he caught behind a tree shortly after a rock was thrown at the headquarters Wednesday night. Two other troopers were found innocent of disorderly conduct charges arising from the same incident.

Brick Extension Club Plans August Picnic

The Brick Extension Club met at the home of Mrs. Otto Meyers Tuesday for its regular July meeting. There were ten members, three visitors and ten children present.

A lesson on "Civil Defense" was given by Miss Jean Paul, who is a 4-H member.

A 4-H demonstration on "Removing Stains" was also presented by Miss Paul. Each member donated 25 cents to the treasurer to replenish the club fund.

A reading "Our Youth" was given by Mrs. Otto Meyers. Mrs. Zimmerman's newsletter was reviewed by Mrs. Jesse Parsons.

Guests were, Mrs. Gladys Halstead, Vancouver, Canada, Mrs. Lily Homan and Miss Jean Paul.

The next meeting will be Aug. 15 with Miss Beulah Armstrong. A picnic is planned.

Algoa Escapees Tracked Down By Bloodhounds

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Bloodhounds tracked down two inmates of the state reformatory at Algoa Thursday night about six hours after the pair escaped.

John Sylvester Yates, 21, of Anderson, Mo., and Byron Dean Simpson, 19, Webb City, Mo., were captured shortly after they took a shotgun away from a farmer at knifepoint.

Yates was serving five years for burglary and larceny and two previous escapes. Simpson was serving four years for burglary and larceny.

In their flight, the two swam the Missouri River with the help of an inner tube and hiked about eight miles to the farm home of Morris Sine.

Sine, at the time, was being warned by a highway patrolman near his house that the fugitives were in the area.

Sine went home, got a shotgun and started searching his house. The men jumped him in a bedroom and took the gun. Before they could get away in Sine's car, the bloodhounds and a posse arrived. The pair surrendered without resistance.

War Mothers Hold Luncheon Tuesday

The American War Mothers held a luncheon at the Coffee Pot Cafe at 1 p.m. Tuesday entertaining the state president, Mrs. A. O. Johnson of Flat River, and the state corresponding secretary, Mrs. Lee Wunning of Farmington.

After the luncheon they went to the Community Room at the First State Savings Association building where further plans were made for the State Convention to be held in Sedalia on Oct. 19-20-21.

Those present were: Mrs. Laura Rile, president; Mrs. D. H. Neiberger, Mrs. Roy Crouch, Mrs. Tess Hogan, Mrs. Paul Weimholt, Mrs. Tom Delph, Mrs. Letha Nichols, Mrs. Margaret Youngkamp and Mrs. Rosetta Lawson.

White Squares on Pavement

Motorists traveling across country on major highways, particularly dual lanes and interstates, are noticing an increasing number of large white squares painted on the pavements. Some drivers have confused them with directional signs for airplanes. In one sense they are—as markers at check points that may be viewed above from an airplane.

However the airplane in this instance is not using the marks for directional information but for checking the speed of automobiles. This technique for traffic control is not altogether new. Some states have had it for some years. The system is getting renewed emphasis in Missouri by our Highway patrol.

The crop of new drivers and those in-cautious older ones might as well be informed that an inclination to excessive speed on Missouri highways or elsewhere is not always advisable just because of a long straight-away pavement and no signs of patrol cars. Chances are a Patrol officer may be piloting an airplane high above with his eye on you. How in the world can he check your speed anyway up there in the air? Simple enough. He relies on those white squares on the pavement located 660 feet apart. With a stop watch he measures the time it takes your vehicle to travel from one square to another. If you are traveling over the speed limit he radios the information to a patrol officer on the ground. A mile or so down the road you may wonder why you are being flagged down and arrested for speeding when you were positive no one was looking.

There should no longer be any mystery about this technique. The surest way to avoid becoming a victim of it is to stay within the legal speed limits.

The Missouri State Highway Patrol now has two planes used for checking speeders. Their effectiveness will be enhanced if the Highway patrol issues public information at intervals specifying the role the airplane patrol plays in making specific arrests for speed violations.

JFK Penned Longhand Note to Nikita

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Only a few intimates were aware of it, but President Kennedy went through agonies of the soul before he finally dispatched the U.S. reply to Premier Khrushchev on Berlin. He finally scrawled most of the American note in his own handwriting.

Outwardly relaxed and confident, the young President rocked calmly in his straight-backed rocker, occasionally lit a long cigar as he discussed the grim alternatives in Berlin.

Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, bolstered by the advice of his military chiefs, favored calling Khrushchev's bluff. He pointed out that Russia has never started a war against an equal power, suggested that Khrushchev would back away from a military showdown.

In reply to Kennedy's prodding questions, however, McNamara acknowledged that we could not defeat Russia on the battlefield without dropping the atom bomb, and that Russia could win any limited war. Thus the terrible choice would be up to the United States whether to accept defeat in Germany or plunge the world into the holocaust of a nuclear war.

Beware of Emotions
Secretary of State Dean Rusk was more cautious, warned against getting caught on an escalator of rising tensions. Such "political escalation," as he called it, could carry the nation beyond the point of retreat into an inevitable war.

In short, he favored a strong, but not a militant, stand.

He also reported there was a strong undercurrent of feeling in the State Department that the United States should avoid an unyielding line on Berlin; should follow a moderate course.

This school of thought contended that Khrushchev was hurting himself with all his rocket-rattling, that the United States could win more friends by appearing reasonable and flexible.

Kennedy suggested to Rusk that the moderates submit a specific program on how they would handle the Berlin crisis. They countered with a proposal to take the issue to the United Nations General Assembly in September. They proposed charging Khrushchev with threatening the peace over Berlin, and calling for economic sanctions if Khrushchev failed to accept the UN verdict.

The President pointed out that the UN verdict might favor Khrushchev, that the neutralist nations might be persuaded to accept Khrushchev's suggestion of a "free city."

Allied "No. 3"
However, the idea was circulated among our allies for their reaction. From Paris came the violent opposition of President De Gaulle, who was dead determined to keep the UN out of any Berlin solution. Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany was also opposed.

Guest Editorial

CAPE GIRARDEAU, MISSOURIAN: A Sign of the Times.—The little item in the Old Appleton news the other day announcing that a store there was ceasing to buy eggs from farmers is another sign of how greatly times have changed.

In the old days every farmer had a flock of hens, varying in size, of course, but big enough to not only provide the needs of the family and make possible fried chicken in the summer months, but also to give the lady of the house some pin money.

At least once a week, usually on Saturday when the trip to town was made, the eggs went along, usually in their own wicker basket. At the store they were exchanged for little items the wife wanted for herself or for the children; things they would not have otherwise gotten.

All that is now changed. Few farmers have more than a dozen or so hens. Egg production has become a commercial enterprise. Even stores must be licensed to handle them. They are graded and command prices based on their quality.

The decision of the store to quit buying eggs after 51 years must have been a hard one for the genial proprietor and Missourian correspondent, J. F. Schnurbusch, to arrive at, but as said, it is just a sign of the times that marks the passing of another era of rural life.

Carl Gustav Jung

We should all be grateful for the life of Dr. Carl Gustav Jung, whose contribution to the study of the mind concentrated itself on the soul of the human being.

Dying at his home in Zurich, Switzerland at the age of eighty-five he was the last of the famous triumvirate who founded modern psychology. Unlike his contemporaries Freud and Adler, Dr. Jung emphasized the instinct of religion in human beings as great a basic drive as sex and he coined such personality types as introvert and extrovert. He was considered a mystic by his two colleagues with whom he differed.

One of Jung's theories was that of "race memory." He believed that in "the subconscious mind of each individual there was recorded the collective experience of mankind from its beginnings."

At a time when modern psychiatrists place such emphasis on sex, it is heartening to know that one of the earliest in the profession emphasized the soul of man and when asked if he believed in God, answered: "I cannot say I believe, I know." "As the arrow flies to the target, so life ends in death, which is the target of all life."

Carl Gustav Jung has reached his target but has left his knowledge of what he learned in the study of man's minds.

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Washington is sometimes like a country lane at night, with a lot of bright little eyes gleaming in the bushes, and a man can get chewed to pieces without knowing what bit him.

In the first big family quarrel in the Kennedy administration, Chester Bowles, the No. 2 man in the State Department as undersecretary, has just walked down that lane. He was badly chewed but managed to survive — if only temporarily.

Liberal Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., fervent supporter of the liberal Bowles, seems to this writer a little too optimistic in suggesting the survival is permanent. He told the Senate the conflict involving Bowles "is all over."

President Kennedy himself left the door open for it not to be all over.

Because of the toothmarks left in Bowles' prestige it will be interesting to see how effective he can be henceforth not only in dealing with foreign diplomats but with people, who seem to include some of his critics, in the department.

For several days there were news stories predicting Bowles was going to be yanked out of his job by Kennedy and given an assignment as roving ambassador. What made the stories sound authentic was their double nature.

Some indicated the information critical of Bowles' performance as undersecretary came from people serving under him in the State Department (his boss, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, has never figured in this) and from people in the White House, meaning people close to Kennedy.

But one, suggesting Bowles had no intention of letting himself be bounced around, clearly pointed to the unnamed informants as men around Bowles. This could be taken as meaning Bowles had approved their talking, if he hadn't inspired them to.

This one appeared after the Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Major Hagar, Boonville, while preparing to install a motor on an electrical refrigerator in the basement of a cafe in Boonville, narrowly missed death. Hospital authorities stated he owes his life to M. F. Hogan, of Sedalia, now employed at the J. C. Penney store in Boonville. Hogan administered artificial respiration until the time the ambulance arrived. Hogan said he had learned to administer artificial respiration in Boy Scout work and at ROTC camps.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Fred G. Lange, conducting a grocery and feed store on West Main street, celebrated his 80th birthday anniversary July 23. He claims the distinction of being the oldest grocer in Sedalia now in business, having conducted such a store for 38 years. Mr. Lange is also a pioneer Sedalian and a highly esteemed citizen.

anti-Bowles stories. It said bluntly Bowles would get out of the Kennedy administration altogether if Kennedy tried to remove him as undersecretary.

Whether or not it chilled the anti-Bowles forces in the administration is not known but this is known: that same day Kennedy lunched with Bowles and the White House denied Bowles was resigning.

Then Kennedy at his Wednesday news conference said:

He had never asked Bowles for his resignation, always expected him to serve out the life of his administration, had complete confidence in him, and that Secretary Rusk had complete confidence in him too.

Still, Kennedy hadn't said Bowles wouldn't be moved out of his job as undersecretary. So a reporter asked him the obvious question: Was there still a possibility Bowles might be shifted?

Kennedy said that as of now he thinks Bowles should stay as undersecretary, that he has no plans to ask him to take another assignment, but that he will ask him if he thinks Bowles can fit in better somewhere else.

That's a long way from saying Bowles is in solid as undersecretary.

Here's the Bald Truth On Receding Hairlines

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Q—You keep writing that baldness in women is due to the use of permanents, dyes and other cosmetics. How about the prevalence of baldness in men? I doubt that many of these "noble creatures" spend much time in beauty salons.

A—Correction, if you please. I did not state that cosmetics, etc. were the only causes for hair loss in women. There are many other causes, such as prolonged illness, low thyroid function, senility, ringworm infections, exposure to radiation and poisoning with chemicals such as the thallium that's an important ingredient in anti-killers.

My statement referred to the increasing incidence of hair thinning and hair loss in women. As to the baldness of those of us you call "noble creatures," it's usually congenital in my experience. Time after time you see the son's hairline recede just as his father's did before him. And at about the same time. We can't all of us have manes like our President. Some of us have to settle for the Yul Brynner look.

Q—From reading about our astronauts, the thought came to my mind that artificial weightlessness might be worth trying in the care of patients with severe burns and similar problems. Even by just lowering the pull of gravity to some degree, it might be possible to help in the healing of these painful wounds. Do you know if studies are being conducted in this field?

A—I don't know. But if they're not, they should be. This sounds like a brilliant idea. Why don't you communicate it to the director of the National Aeronautic Space Administration (NASA) in care of your congressman or senator, Washington, D.C.?

Q—I recently underwent surgery for an ectopic pregnancy. I had an internal hemorrhage that was nearly fatal because I didn't know enough about this condition to realize what was happening to me. Don't you think it would be beneficial if you wrote of this condition so that others might be spared what I went through?

A—Thank you for the suggestion. An ectopic (outside) pregnancy occurs when the fertilized egg fails to complete its momentous journey from the ovary (situated on the right or left side) to the centrally placed uterus (womb).

Most often, the ectopic pregnancy occurs in the fallopian tube (tubal pregnancy). The tube is a narrow channel through which the egg must travel on its way to the womb. It has a thin wall and is unable to accommodate itself to the growth demands of the developing embryo. When its walls are stretched to the limits of their capacities, they burst just as a balloon does when it's blown to the limits of its capacities.

That's when the prospective mother suffers agonizing pain and the condition of shock that's due to the accompanying internal hemorrhage.

Of prime importance is prevention of this life-threatening accident. This is accomplished by examination as soon as conception is suspected and before the prospective mother herself has any symptoms that suggest the disturbance or, if this important examination is omitted, by discomfort or pain in the side before tubal rupture takes place.

Ruth Millett Says

Marriage Is Woman's Greatest Creative Arena

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The other day an educational authority said that for women to marry, settle down and have a family constitutes withdrawal from the creative arena. Pish! Tosh!

Just where would an intelligent woman have a better chance to use her creative influences than in the home?

As a wife, mother and homemaker she exerts plenty of influence. The home in which her husband lives and her children grow up is of her making.

She has the power to make it a place where a family can live happily together, where the children learn right from wrong and absorb kindly, tolerant attitudes.

As a homemaker a woman can draw around her and her family a circle of friends. Whether or not that circle is intelligent and stimulating is largely up to the wife.

Once her children are all in school she has more free hours than most working women to put her mind to community problems.

Of course, there are plenty of homemakers who, once they have a home and a husband, do settle down into dull, routine lives. But such women wouldn't have made any creative contribution anyhow. Marriage doesn't stifle a woman. It gives her the best chance a woman can have to leave her mark on the world.

If she doesn't see the many possibilities for self-expression that are open to her as a wife, mother and homemaker, she just isn't looking beyond the dishes in the sink.

Marriage is the real "creative arena" for most women.

Why Parents Minimize Their Children's Hostility

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The fight exploded into action as I approached. A little boy in a red sweater suddenly hurled himself on another small boy and, falling to the grass, they began to pummel each other. They fought silently, their faces set and grimly intent. Watching from her park bench, one of their mothers called out, "Remember, you're good little sportsmen. Remember, you just want to see who is strongest and don't want to hurt each other."

I wanted to ask, "Madam, how do you know that these children don't want to hurt each other?" but refrained. For the little boy in the red sweater gave a howl of pain. His nose had begun to bleed and the mothers, hastily squashing their cigarettes, rushed over to their panting embattled offspring to deal belatedly with the fact that they HAD wanted to hurt each other.

Why are we so uncomfortable with the fact that children sometimes wish to injure each other? Why do we ignore Jimmy's roughhousing with his little brother until he twists Bobby's arm and produces howls of pain? Why must we pretend that the tough-house is just "good clean fun" instead of separating the fighters and saying, "That's enough now. I'm not going to let you hurt each other."

Why do we say, "Bill was only teasing" when his tearful sister brings us the doll from which he has just torn the wig? Why do we exhort Joan not to make a "mountain out of a molehill" when she comes home to find that her little sister has used her new scarf for a paint rag?

What is it about children's hostility toward each other that compels us to minimize it?

We are, of course, afraid of it in ourselves.

This is sad. Because we do not reduce hostility in children by pretending it doesn't exist. It's reduced by helping them tell us all about it in words.

The trouble is, we dare not invite the words. We know that if Jimmy really opened up on his jealous resentment of his little brother, he might become involved in accusation of us, of our partiality to Bobby, bitter memories of injustices we may or may not have done him. We don't like that to happen. We don't dare to listen to Jimmy's accusing hostility lest it provoke a responsive explosion of our own. This is why we cannot use child guidance advice to help children "get those bad feelings out."

LONG DISTANCE NOTICE
A mid-western newspaper received a letter from a British law firm containing a request to print a legal notice. In brief, an English woman had decided to sue for a divorce from her long-absent husband. Under English, as under American law, she had to give due notice of her intentions.

But she and her solicitors (lawyers) knew only as to her husband's whereabouts that he was reported to be in the Midwest. They were not sure but thought it was southern Michigan. An Ohio paper suggested that the notice be published in a Michigan paper, but the reply came back that they wanted the notice published as first requested.

This was done in the legal notice columns. But the story was so unusual the newspaper gave it a "play" in its page one news columns, also. It is not known whether the notice or the news story ever came to the attention of the husband.

But this little incident illustrates two things. It shows how the wife moved in a manner to exercise her rights, yet in a way to safeguard those of her husband by putting him on notice and giving him an opportunity to make a counter-move if he desired. In particular, it showed how the bona fide newspaper is an effective and preferred medium for such purposes and how in so doing it renders an important service for which the law provides.

Father Felt Mostly Fear For Grissom

MITCHELL, Ind. (AP)—Virgil I. Grissom's father felt mostly fear—"pride ran second"—while his son rocketed into space and back today.

At one point, railroad signalman Dennis Grissom walked into the kitchen away from the television account of his son's flight. Grissom's mother stuck out every tense moment.

The Grissoms looked drawn and tired after their son was plucked from the sea, as if mentally they had been guiding Virgil all the way. But they cheerfully got ready to ride in a parade with the high school band, this little southern Indiana town's (pop. 3,550) one fire truck and anybody else who wanted to fall in.

"It was the longest 15 minutes I ever lived through," the stocky, graying railroad said. "You wouldn't realize this unless you had a son up there."

How did he feel when Grissom's space capsule sank beneath the sea after the astronaut was plucked from it?

"I was proud he was out of it," the father said. "They can get another capsule."

A reporter asked whether there were any tears during the flight. "What do you think?" said Mrs. Grissom. "What would you do?"

The Grissoms went on a family picnic Thursday night with about 30 relatives—"mostly my wife's," Dennis said.

But their nerves were still on edge when they got home, partly because Grissom's flight had already been postponed twice, and they didn't get to sleep until about 1 a.m.

A daughter, Wilma Beavers, Baltimore, and her children, Rhonda, 12, Joan, 10, and Linda, 9, spent the night with them.

Would he like to see Virgil make an orbital flight?

"I think 15 minutes is long enough."

What about a moon flight?

"Well, yes," said the father, "if he can do it safely."

"No, Never!" said the mother.

sive bolts. These would blow it in case of emergency for quick exit. There was no explanation why they went off today.

Grissom blew his escape hatch and left the sinking capsule in the manner all astronauts had been taught in their rigorous training.

After swimming about 70 feet, Grissom was picked up by a helicopter two minutes after his escape from the capsule. Attempts to recover the spacecraft failed as it plummeted to the bottom.

"Give me something to blow my nose. My head is full of sea water," America's No. 2 space man said when he was deposited on the deck of the aircraft carrier Randolph. Otherwise, he was reported in good condition.

Grissom rode 118 miles high on the nose of a Redstone rocket and 308 miles down the Atlantic missile range. And he looked down on a view so fascinating he forgot momentarily that he had chores to perform during the 15-minute journey.

President Kennedy watched on television with millions of other Americans as Grissom followed the space trail blazed May 5 by astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. Then he expressed "great pleasure and satisfaction" in a telephone call to Grissom on the Randolph.

The 35-year-old Air Force captain had flown higher (two miles), farther (one mile) and faster (by 180 miles) than Shepard.

His petite wife, Betty, who also sat glued to a TV screen at Newport News, Va., disclosed also that he "achieved a first."

She and their sons, Scott, 11, and Mark, 7, "talked by telephone to Gus as he lay flat on his back in the capsule before it was launched," she said.

National space agency officials said Grissom's close call and failure to retrieve the capsule probably would delay the Project Mercury program.

After making his escape from the doomed space ship, Grissom was not in danger of sinking. His flight suit was buoyant. But he did go under water briefly in the wake of the rescue helicopter's spinning blades.

The pickup was made at 7:51 a.m. (EST), 31 minutes after the Redstone booster rocket thundered away from Cape Canaveral.

At 8:01 a.m., the Randolph reported it had Grissom on deck. He was smiling and appeared in excellent condition, none the worse for the crushing forces he had suffered in the blastoff and re-entry and for his swim in shark-infested waters.

Another helicopter tried to get a cable on the rung of the space capsule but it disappeared in the depths.

The flight had been delayed twice previously—on Tuesday and Wednesday—by heavy clouds over the launch area which prevented camera tracking of the Redstone during powered flight.

Today a thin layer of clouds was over the Cape but a hot sun burned the clouds away.

Grissom demonstrated his pilot head. Emergency treatment was unnecessary.

The drivers of both cars were charged with careless and reckless driving and were issued a summons to appear in Police Court Saturday morning, July 22.

Fires In City
City firemen made a run to Dorn-Cloney Laundry, 201 East Third, at 3:19 a.m. Friday and found the building's sprinkler and alarm system had been tripped inadvertently. No flames were reported.

Firemen suspected lightning may have tripped the sprinkler device.

Kiwanians Report On Convention

Three Kiwanians, W. A. Schien, Dan Robinson, and Sam Boyle, gave informative and colorful reports of the International Kiwanis Convention recently concluded at Toronto, Canada. More than 18,000 delegates were privileged to hear outstanding speakers from Canada and the United States and it was brought out that the relations of the two countries have never been more cordial.

Invocation was by A. H. Wilks. Singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist. President W. A. Schien called on J. C. Griffin to introduce his guest, Sam Ross, and C. C. Hemphill who had as his guest, Allen Rich of Warsaw. Wesley Bunce and Philip McLaughlin were congratulated on their birthdays.

Louis Hughes, chairman of the auction committee, made a progress report and plans are being completed for the annual Kiwanis auction to be held at the court house parking lot on the afternoon of July 29.

Guests of the club were Don Baumgardner and his mother, Mrs. Albert Baumgardner. Don is the entry of the Kiwanis Club in the Soap Box Derby.

disaster area, eligible for federal aid.

"Hardship and suffering are so severe," Barron told Kennedy, "that federal assistance is required to supplement the limited aid state and local authorities are able to render."

Kennedy replied he had ordered an immediate report. The disaster, said the President, "is of great concern to me."

Offers of vehicles and rescue equipment flowed in from cities throughout the Kanawha and the Ohio valleys. Assistance was offered by Dallas, Tex.

"It makes you feel good," said the mayor, "to find out how everybody is pulling together in this time of need."

He said it may be a month, though, before all city services are back to normal.

United Fuel Gas Co. said 80 homes were so badly damaged by the flood that natural gas service cannot be restored at present. In all, nearly 600 customers were without gas until Thursday night and today.

On one litter-strewn stream bank, Mrs. Enid Bossie recounted her night of horror.

"When the water started swirling down the hollow, I called our preacher to have him pray for us. But there wasn't time to pray."

Just before dawn, Bob Burgess walked to his car to inspect the damage. He stepped on something spongy.

"I thought it was a cushion," he said, "but it was a woman's body."

In a community where everyone knows everyone, this woman was a stranger. Her body had been swept in by floodwaters.

R. W. Orndorff and his family lived in a house near the mouth of a hollow. They had retired for the evening, but were aroused by noises outside.

"I looked out the front door," he said, "and there was a two-story house floating down the street. It was just a mass of loose boards. And I heard screams up the way."

The house where Mrs. Walter Hudnall lived with her husband and their four children was intact.

But it had been lifted from its foundation and dropped into the water.

training by asking to remain in the capsule an additional two minutes after he landed to complete a check of instruments inside the vehicle.

An Associated Press reporter aboard the Randolph sent word Liberty Bell 7 splashed on the surface at 7:36 a.m., not far from the prime recovery ship.

Calling on his many years of experience as a combat and test pilot, Grissom performed a variety of tasks on the pulse-pounding flight.

For brief periods, he controlled the two-ton space ship by switching its roll, pitch and yaw. Throughout the flight Grissom, of Mitchell, Ind., radioed assurances that his condition was good and that all capsule systems performed normally.

"A-OK, A-OK," he messaged several times, space agency officials reported.

As the Redstone rose, the pilot reported: "The sun is really bright."

Through his 19-inch "picture window," he reported seeing the east coast of the United States but was unable to identify landmarks because of the bright sun.

Nine minutes after launch, as his space craft re-entered the atmosphere, he reported: "I feel very good. Everything is looking good."

Bizerte War Flames Forge New Arab Unity In Africa

Editor's Note — AP correspondent Andrew Borowiec has spent much of the past four years in Tunisia and Algeria, covering the recurring crises in that part of North Africa. France once dominated. In the following dispatch he surveys the implications of the latest trouble in Tunisia.

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

TUNIS (AP) — War flames sweeping embattled Bizerte are forging new Arab unity in explosive North Africa.

France's fighting retaliation to President Habib Bourguiba's try to expel the French garrison from the big base at Tunisia's northern tip has rallied the support of Morocco, the Algerian rebels and the United Arab Republic, all of whom have been at odds with the Tunisian leader in the past.

The battle around Bizerte is another serious threat to France's chances of retaining a foothold in the Tunisia-Algeria-Morocco crescent that once was her exclusive preserve.

Western diplomats in the Tunisian capital, tensely watching the new crisis, believe that the entire West could lose its influence in the strategic area.

Bah Ladhgam, Bourguiba's No. 2 man, was grim when he summoned U.S. Ambassador Walter Walsley Thursday.

"Now is your chance to prove how anticolonialist you are," he told the American.

For Tunisia — and the Arab world—Bizerte is a clearcut case of an underdog trying to drive out a colonial power.

"They have put us before our conscience—and God knows what we can do about it," an American diplomat commented bitterly. "After all, we too have bases abroad and France is our ally."

The shooting crisis apparently stunned the Tunisians themselves. Few of them had expected the dispute over the Bizerte base would reach such a tragic climax.

Informed sources claim Bourguiba did not want his blockade tactic to deteriorate into actual fighting.

Some diplomats are convinced that to Bourguiba the Bizerte incident was secondary to his venture into the southern Sahara sands, where a Tunisia column is marching to plant the flag on territory claimed by France.

Apparently Bourguiba decided to move swiftly into the Sahara before an agreement between France and the Algerian rebels could give all of the French Sahara to an independent Algeria.

To divert the rebels, who use his country as a base, Bourguiba put pressure on Bizerte, diplomats say.

For a brief spell, Bourguiba's gamble looked as if it might backfire. The Algerians quickly told him he would have to settle his Sahara claims with them, not with France. Government-controlled newspapers in the Syrian province of President Nasser's United Arab Republic said the Tunisian chief had stabbed his Algerian allies in the back.

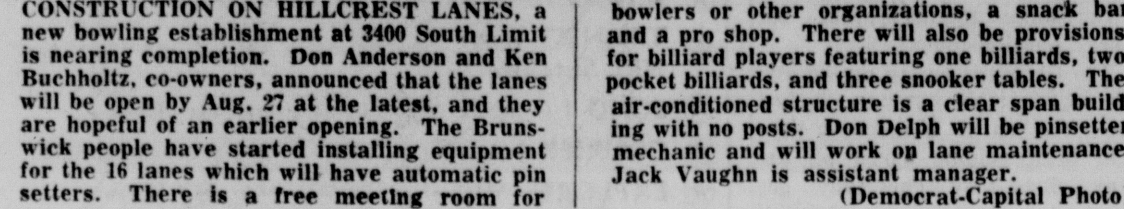

Then the blockade at Bizerte deteriorated into a major bloody clash. The Algerian rebels and the U.A.R.

Says Pact With CBS Is Invalid

NEW YORK (AP)—The Justice Department had its answer from a federal judge today—the National Football League's new $9.3 million "package" television contract with the Columbia Broadcasting System violates antitrust laws and is invalid.

Still unanswered for the nation's sports fan who thrives on his year-round menu of televised games is what happens now to similar contracts held by other sports groups.

In addition to the NFL, the American Football League, the National Basketball Association and the National Collegiate Athletic Association hold exclusive contracts with networks. Major league baseball always has shied away from package deals. Each baseball club makes its own TV arrangement.

Federal Judge Allan K. Grim, announcing his decision in Philadelphia Thursday, made no mention of the other pacts. The Justice Department, which had questioned the legality of the NFL-CBS two-year pact signed last April 28, said it would have no comment until it studied the judge's decision.

Both the AFL and the NBA were in doubt as to what the ruling could mean to them.

The NFL contract granted CBS exclusive rights to telecast all regular season games played by the 14 NFL teams, with each team sharing equally in the television income.

The shift from the old federal-approved NFL TV program which permitted each team to negotiate its own TV contract, came after the new American Football

Johnson to Defend His NBA Crown

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Johnson of Philadelphia, will make the second defense of his NBA-recognized light heavyweight crown probably Aug. 29 against Eddie Cotton of Seattle.

The fight will be staged in Seattle's Sick Stadium. Pat Oliveri, Johnson's manager, approved the match here Thursday.

Agreement on the fight actually was reached several days ago. However, delay resulted over Johnson's contract to give heavy-weight contender Eddie Machen of Portland, Ore., a return bout.

Oliveri said Thursday he had heard nothing from Sid Flaherty,

Frisco Stalls Cards' Streak With 10-6 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The San Francisco Giants stalled the St. Louis winning streak at five games by defeating the Cardinals last night 10-6, coming from behind with a four-run eighth inning. Kansas City was idle.

San Francisco had blown a 6-0 lead then, with two out, Harvey Kuenn doubled off Lindy McDaniel to score Dick Lemay, who had walked, breaking a 6-6 tie. Matty Alou rapped a single, scoring Kuenn and Willie Mays clinched it with a two-run homer, his 28th of the year. Lemay was the winner. McDaniel the loser, now 6-4. McDaniel's earned run average has soared to 6.06, compared to 2.09 last season.

Pravda Says Soviets Want Peace Talks

LONDON (AP)—Pravda said today the Soviet Union wants to settle the problems of Germany and Berlin at the negotiating table
"and the sooner Western politicians agree to this, the sooner will the black war clouds disappear from the horizon."

A Pravda article bylined Observer and broadcast by Moscow radio said: "From beyond the ocean we can hear the mass heating of war drums in American newspapers. A number of leading statesmen and politicians, senators and representatives, have taken to the warpath."

Pravda is the official organ of the Soviet Communist party. Articles in it signed Observer are usually taken to represent the official line.

"Some botheads in the West do not want negotiations on the (West Berlin) issue. They do not want to make any constructive proposals," said the article.

"They want to preserve at any cost the present high explosive situation in Europe and they threaten war, a third world war, against anyone who tries to remove the delayed action bomb that is endangering the peace of the world."

"But we do not want war. The sabre-rattling provocateurs intimidate no one. They are merely pushing the world further along the dangerous road of an accelerated arms race."

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: I have a cousin who thinks she knows it all. Some of her ideas are really way out there. She loves to be right about everything — makes bets with people about the spelling of words, trick political questions, and so on, and she carries the proof right in her purse and collects on the spot.

The other day she made the statement that the weather often shapes people's lives because it affects their moods and decisions.

This sounds loony to me. In fact, it's so nuts that I bet her you wouldn't put it in your column. If she wins this one, too, I'll shoot myself. — KISSIN' KARL.

Dear Karl: Put that pistol down, Boy—she's right. Behavior studies indicate that people are more irritable when the barometer is low. On cloudy days they tend to be more quarrelsome, depressed, less cooperative and less efficient. When the weather is gloomy people are apt to start fights, drink too much, break engagements and begin divorce proceedings. So pay off, Buster — and by the way, I hope it's a nice day out there in San Jose.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I are both perfectionists and I'm afraid some of this has rubbed off on our only son.

He's a freshman, 15, an A student, participates in athletics and is in the school band. What worries us is his consuming drive to be tops in everything. If a math paper isn't perfect he sulks. If his golf game is over par he throws the clubs. If his tennis game is off he throws the racket.

We feel he should be in better control of his emotions and I'm worried about his ability to get along with people. Nobody likes a poor sport, which he certainly is.

Please don't tell us he needs a psychiatrist. A close friend of ours is one, and he says Don is not disturbed. What's wrong with the boy and what can we do to help?

— ILLINI

Dear Illini: It's grossly unfair to put a psychiatrist-friend on the spot by asking him for an evaluation of a member of your family. Your son needs help (probably not intensive therapy) but he needs help, nevertheless, from a trained person.

Although you may TELL your son he doesn't need to excel in everything, he senses that excellence is expected. When he does less he feels that he has failed the family.

He sounds like an exceptional lad who needs to have a few personality kinks straightened out. The time to do it is now.

Dear Ann Landers: I came here from Australia three years ago and I would like help in understanding something about Americans which is a mystery to me. Why do American drivers blow the horns on their automobiles when it is obvious the cars ahead of them can't move? And it seems to be contagious. When one horn starts, others follow. Why is this?

— UNSOLVED EQUATION

Dear Unsolved: I once heard it expressed this way: The number of blasts from auto horns during a traffic snarl-up is equal to the sum of the squares at the wheel.

Confidential TO ALL OF YOU WHO ASKED ME TO REPEAT THE LETTER WHICH GAVE THE RECIPE FOR GETTING OVER A MAD CRUSH: Sorry, I never repeat letters. The date of that column was January 18, 1961. Get a back copy from your local newspaper, please.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Social Meeting For Aug. 17 Is Slated by BPW

The social committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club met at the Chamber of Commerce office Monday night and planned the social meeting for Aug. 17, which will be held at the home of Mrs. W. C. Askew.

This will be a picnic with the meat and drink to be furnished and each member bringing a covered dish, as well as their own service. Transportation will be furnished at 6:30 p.m. and those who have TV tables are asked to provide them for the occasion.

The chairman of the social is Dennis Jackson and members of the committee for the August social are: Anna Lee Bail, Gertrude Berlin, Mildred Brackman, Naomi Brown, Edna DeMott, Vinnie Denny, Mary Dithley, Genevieve Finley, Adeline Geiger, Blanche Hail, Ann Hamilton, Mary Harlan, Angeline Hurley, Bernice McGee, Imogene McMurd, Ruth Meador, Mary Ellen Merrill, Freda Mueller, Opal O'Brian, Oma Rice, Katharyn Rosencrans, Gladys Vaughan, Shirley Wagner and Mary Jane Wilson.

Present, also, at the committee meeting, were Jessie Goist, president; Mildred Bowman, vice-president and Vivian Warren, program coordinator.

Hoffa Daughter Is Engaged To An Executive

DETROIT (AP)—The daughter of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa will marry a management man in October.

Pretty, green-eyed Barbara Hoffa, 23, is betrothed to Robert E. Crancer, 24, son of President Les Crancer of the Valley Steel Co. of St. Louis after a speedy courtship. They met three weeks ago at the Teamsters convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

Robert is manager of his father's Dallas, Tex., plant. Barbara, an Albion (Mich.) College graduate, has taught in junior high school in Detroit.

"My father hasn't teased me about choosing a company man but Robert has," Barbara said.

Woman Driver Uses Station As Brake

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Russell Jones, filling station attendant, saw a car pull into the station wash unit and assumed the driver wanted the car washed.

To his astonishment, the car crashed on through the rear wall.

The driver, Esther M. Harvey, 61, explained that the brakes failed and she drove into the station to avoid a line of traffic.

Parole Can Be Made Against Your Will

Wives and Elephants Have Remarkably Good Memory

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—I dreamed the other night that my wife married — this time to an elephant.

It's not too hard to figure out why an ordinary husband would have a dream like this.

One of the most vexing things about most wives to most husbands is their inordinate memory. No machine, fed endless information on tape, can match the total recall born in wives. The many incidents of ordinary living that don't register at all in a husband's mind — and others that he wisely chooses to regret and forget — stay in a wife's mind at her immortal beck and call.

A wife cannot simply forget to remember.

Well, anyway, I had this odd dream the other night. I had passed on to the remembrance of a grateful posterity. My wife, after counting the insurance and a suitable period of quiet jubilation, married an elephant.

Many of her friends thought this was rather an unusual choice as the elephant wasn't, as elephants go, an outstanding character. But those who best knew Frances, my wife, realized the reason—the elephant to her bore a sentimental resemblance to her first husband. And he had an added virtue: He didn't drink martinis.

"The best headstand you did, Jumbo," said Frances, pausing in her knitting. "was before those 10,679 fans in Omaha on August 12. It was such a hot night. You were simply magnificent. And I was so proud of you." Reaching boredly out for another peanut, Jumbo replied: "You have it all wrong, kid. The best headstand I did was in Kansas City on August 1 before 12,435 people."

"Incidentally, we played in Omaha on August 13—not August 12—before a lousy crowd of 3,819, my foot slipped and I fell on my back, and it rained that day and the highest temperatures was 67 degrees."

"Can't you get anything straight?"

"Sorry, dear," said Frances. "So it went, night after night. Elephants in winter quarters like to recall the previous season. But every time Frances tactfully attempted to bolster Jumbo's ego with some remembrance he would say: 'It didn't happen that way—it happened this way. Can't you ever get anything straight? What's the matter with your mind?'"

Finally, one evening, Frances broke into tears and said: "Living with a husband with a perfect memory is just too much for a woman. I wish I had my first husband back."

"Well, kid," sneered Jumbo, with an air of mock sympathy as he reached out with his trunk and patted her on the shoulder. "it's a little bit late to be thinking of that, isn't it?"

Right about then my dream ended. Blinking in the morning sunlight, I awoke and looked across at my wife.

"You got home rather late last night," said Frances. "Just where were you?"

"I forget," I mumbled.

"You forget awfully easily," she said. "Sometimes I wish I had married an elephant. They never forget."

Unruly Conduct Puts Mr. Crow In the Suburbs

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—And what could you expect from a crow that lived on dog food?

Stanley, the pet crow of Jim Maley, 16, became a nuisance as far as the neighbors were concerned. But to Jim he was just a friendly bird.

Jim found Stanley alone in a nest 45 days ago and raised him on a diet of dog food, berries and bugs.

Ruth Nesius, 26, complained Thursday that Stanley had pecked the back of her neck two days in a row while she waited for a bus. That was the end of Stanley.

Police told Jim to get rid of him. And Stanley was shipped off to the home of a friend in suburban Henrietta.

Kassem Has Hit Roadblock In Quest to Annex Kuwait

Editor's Note—Webb McKinley, Associated Press chief of Middle East services, flew to Baghdad when Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem laid claim to the oil-rich sheikdom of Kuwait. Now back in Beirut, he gives an uncensored report of the dilemma facing Kassem.

By WEBB MCKINLEY

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq has reached a roadblock in his quest for Kuwait.

When Kassem announced on June 25 that Iraq was claiming the enormously wealthy oil sheikdom on its southern border, there were two courses before him.

First, he could send his armor across the border and take Kuwait by force in a few hours, presenting to the world an embarrassing fait accompli. Kassem has denied he ever intended to do this and most observers in Baghdad believe him.

Second, he could follow a political path and by winning the support of other Arab nations, possibly gaining his objective.

Kassem may have felt that somehow he could bring enough pressure against the British to keep them on the sidelines. But when British troops were rushed to Kuwait at the ruling sheik's request, that hope was ended. And any movement of Iraqi troops into Kuwait now would have to contend not only with the British but also with Saudi Arabian and possibly other Arab forces.

Beauty Congress Is Officially Underway

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—With all 53 delegates now assembled, the International Beauty Congress is officially under way. Contestants from Europe, the Middle East and South America checked in Thursday and were greeted at planeside by the early arrivals—beauties from the Far East and the Pacific.

Also on hand was JoAnne Marie Dyer, 22, of Lima, Ohio, who represents the United States.

Today's big event—one of several preliminaries—is a fashion show luncheon. The winner will be crowned July 28 after four days of judging.

'Home On Range' Is Sought by Officials

CINCINNATI (AP)—Where is "home on the range?" Officials of the Hamilton County Probate Court would like to know. They have some money to give to it.

It's a $500 bequest by John J. O'Hara, retired Norwood machinist, who died last October. In his will, O'Hara said the money should be used "for purpose the home deems necessary."

He mentioned no address. And now, as one court clerk put it, "we can sing it, but we can't find it."

Selective Service Card Scheme Used To Cash In Tickets

MEMPHIS (AP)—Police arrested Larry C. Johnson of Topeka as he was checking out of a Memphis hotel Thursday and he was arraigned on a federal charge of possessing false selective service cards.

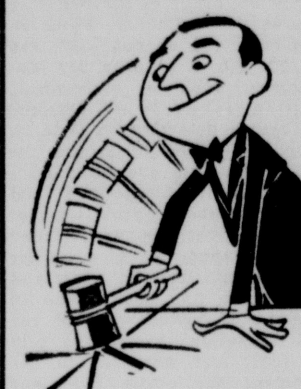

Investigators said he used the cards for identification in a scheme by which he bought airline tickets with bad checks, cancelled his reservation and redeemed the tickets for cash.

Johnson was arrested in the hotel lobby after an official of Eastern Air Lines said he used a bad check to purchase a $375 ticket from Memphis to New York via New Orleans.

Officers said Johnson is wanted at Topeka and in California for passing bad checks. Johnson is 26.

A Good TV Show for 'Kids'

LUCIAN KAMINSKY, Jack and Phyllis Spear as Mr. Leader, Pipe the Piper and Miss Merrynote.

By DICK KLEINER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK —(NEA)— "Television has treated children with great disrespect," says Lucian Kaminsky. He and Phyllis and Jack Spear are now attempting to do something about that with their successful NBC children's show, "Pip the Piper."

For many children who have grown up in the last few years it may be too late. Their TV fare has been The Three Stooges, some old cartoons and a pitifully few good shows such as Captain Kangaroo.

The success of "Pip the Piper" may change all that. It may lead to children being treated with the respect Kaminsky feels is due them.

"All Madison Avenue has done," Kaminsky feels, "is to say, 'Well, we'll give the kids something fast, and somebody hitting somebody over the head with something, and they'll like it.' They don't realize if you give children something a bit over their heads, they'll reach up for it."

Kaminsky and the Spears entered television as disgruntled parents with no professional show business experience. They all lived in West Orange, N.J., and the two men had collaborated on a couple of amateur theatrical benefits. Kaminsky, who sold perfume, and Spear, who sold baby pictures, wrote songs together for these shows and found their talents meshed. As parents, they were concerned over the fare their children were seeing at home.

Almost inevitably, they came up with an outline for a children's show, which would, first and foremost, entertain the children, but which also would have something to tell them.

It took several years to work out. There was a lot of perfume over the dram and baby pictures snapped before "Pip the Piper" evolved and gained its Saturday morning network spot.

As it now stands, Jack Spear is Pip (a distant relative of both The Pied Piper and Peter Pan) who lives in Pipertown, plays the pipe and flies about on a cloud. His wife, Phyllis, is Miss Merrynote who plays piano, sings, dances. Kaminsky is Mr. Leader and the voice for such odds and ends as talking fish and stuffed owls who figure prominently in the goings-on.

They sing songs, cavort, and toss in bits of useful information. Above all, they amuse the children.

It is definitely a step in the right direction. (Another step would be to resurrect some other valuable children's shows, such as "Let's Take a Trip." The three admit that they aren't even sure if they're right about what they're doing. But they think they are and at least they're trying.

For three non-pros, this is all pretty heady stuff, and they're enjoying life as semi-stars. They

Narcotics Rap Faces Official Of Law School

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Narcotics agents disclosed Wednesday that the assistant registrar of Hastings College of Law was of three, is a law graduate of Golden Gate College and was arrested and charged with forging narcotics prescriptions.

Matt O'Connor, supervising state narcotics agent, said Richard P. Timm, 35, of nearby Belmont, had students pick up prescriptions for pain killers and habit-forming sleeping pills.

Timm, married and the father scheduled to take his bar examination next month. He was released on $500 bail — and promptly discharged from his job as assistant registrar at the law college.

do personal appearances, are about to make records, will have some 75 "Pip the Piper" products on the market by the fall. They are thinking seriously in terms of an adult show and of writing a musical comedy.

They still live in West Orange, where the neighborhood is excited about the stars which bloomed in their suburban midst.

Perhaps their major contribution is that they're giving children's TV programming a hypo. If their activities will spur TV into improving the quality of shows for children, they'll have done a mighty service.

ALUMINUM looks good naturally!

Its clear, protective oxide film provides a lasting attractive surface finish. By eliminating painting, this often reduces the original cost of a product, and it saves the home owner many days and dollars on refinishing, maintenance and repair over the years.

We sell ALUMINUM. Combination Doors and Windows, Ventilated Awnings, Carports, Patio Covers, Columns, Siding . . . FREE ESTIMATES.

ROMANCE AS IT WAS—Love scenes between Charleton Heston and Sophia Loren in the new film, "El Cid," are so classic in their simplicity and tenderness that the two stars are being billed as "the love team of the year." "El Cid" is photographed against background of 11th century Spain.
